À é à, À é GARROUSTE, C., & PACCAGNELLA, O. Office of International Labor, Geneva, 2000. Sampling rates vary between 0.2 and 3.3% (around 1.5 million people per trimester). À é à, ~ "Quality report of the Labor Force Survey of the European Union 2011. By dividing the resident population at the age of working in three mutually exclusive and exhaustive groups (employees, unemployed and economically inactive), the Survey collects different variables depending on the status at the time of the survey. LFS microdata for scientific purposes contain data for the 27 Member States and, in addition, Iceland, Norway and Switzerland. 15+, except those living in collective homes or institutional (the demographic data is collected for all age groups, the questions related to the labor market status are restricted to people in the age group of 15 years or more). The survey of The strength of works of the European Union (EU-LFS) provides estimates of the population for the main characteristics of the labor market, such as employment, unemployment, inactivity, working hours, occupation, Economic activity and other variables related to work, as well as an important sociodemographic. Features, such as sex, age, education, household characteristics and residence regions. The EU-LFS is a source of key data for analysis of situations and trends in the labor market. This page lists the user guides to use workforce survey data (LFS), providing orientation over the Fund and Methodology of LFS, the details of current and past variables, the LFS Questionnaire, LFS ratings, LFS ratings and data from the local area.
